Updated June 01, 2022A mortgage pre-approval letter is a certification by a financial institution that states that a borrower has been guaranteed approval for a loan. This is common when a buyer of real estate is looking to make an offer and to prove they can close on the property. In addition, most sellers will require that a buyer have a pre-approval letter before even showing the property. When showing the letter to a seller or their agent, the buyer is recommended to cross-out the maximum borrowing amount. What is a Pre-Approval Letter? A pre-approval letter certifies that a borrower has been prequalified and approved for a mortgage. It is NOT a commitment by the financial institution. Although the letter is a preliminary assessment that the borrower has credit and the funds available to obtain a mortgage and close on a property, which is included in the Pre-Approval Letter Amount, the lender will need to verify your financial needs for closing on a home. This means entering how much the borrower is looking to borrow to buy the home they want. When doing this, it's best to request a little more than the sales price in case of a multiple offer situation. Step 2: Gather Personal Info. A lender will usually request some form of identification in the form of a driver's license or passport, and Proof of Assets Screenshots of bank statements, stock portfolios, or other hard assets showing the buyer has the funds to close on the home you're buying. A letter from an employer or manager may be required. Government ID is also required. Step 3: Fill Out Application. Fill out the application with all the information you provided in the previous steps. Step 4: Wait for Approval. Once your application is submitted, the lender will review it and let you know if you've been approved. If you have been approved, you'll receive a pre-approval letter. This letter will include your pre-approval amount, the interest rate, and the terms of the loan. It's important to read this letter carefully and understand all the details. Step 5: Get Ready to Close. Once you've been approved, you'll need to get ready to close on the home. This includes getting your mortgage documents, finding a title company, and scheduling a closing date. Step 6: Close on the Home. On the day of closing, you'll sign the mortgage documents and transfer ownership of the home to the lender. You'll also pay any closing costs and receive your keys. Step 7: Enjoy Your New Home! Once you've closed on the home, you can start enjoying your new property. Remember to take care of it and keep up with your mortgage payments. If you ever have any questions or concerns, don't hesitate to contact your lender or a real estate agent. Good luck!
